Thats fine. I can actually talk at 2:30, but I'll be in motion and won't be able to look at the table while I talk! I would like to trade notes, though. Actually, I think we can propose some pretty simple solutions to resolve the gray boxes at this stage of the game. -Bob

Hi guys. Guess for some reason we did not connect up this afternoon for the call. Unless I spaced out entirely, I had us down for a 3pm call today, but nobody joined after about 20 minutes. I know we switched to use of a dialin number relatively late in the game, so perhaps that was the cause.

Anyway, just to keep things moving in the face of so many meetings this week, I will go through the existing ME table and, via comment boxes, suggest a means of resolving each of the gray-ed out cells in the table. I'll try and get this out to you guys tonight, or first thing in the morning. Please send any comments back to me by the end of wednesday so we can keep this moving. If you still want to hold a call to discuss, let me know and I'll set it up if we can find a time around all the meetings.

Thanks!

-Bob
